

AUSTRALIAN CITIZENSHIP

by Craig Bradshaw
Senate Candidate for One Nation WA
1st April 2010

Australian citizenship should be valued highly, it is not a right.

Australian citizenship should have major advantages over residency in Australia and along with it come responsibilities.

I believe Australian citizenship is a total commitment of loyalty to one country, therefore I believe dual citizenship must end. Divided loyalties are dangerous to Australia. We have seen recent examples of people with dual citizenship allowing their Australian citizenship to be used in criminal activities.

One main benefit should be that only Australian citizens can buy property in Australia. With the "Independent" reserve bank pushing up interest rates and foreigners having access to lower interest rates in their own country they have greater buying power than Australians, and that is wrong!

As loyalty to Australia and Australians is important, those that serve Australia in the public service must be Australian citizens. There is no room for foreign agents in the Australian public service or any Australian federal, state or local government body.

Only Australian citizens may be employed on the boards of any public company. Only an Australian citizen can have concerns for his or her country in relation to the operations of a public company, a foreigner fulfils his or her contract then flees Australia, usually with a large pay out.

Australian citizenship should not be handed out like a door prize. Australian citizenship should only result after 10 years of loyal service to the Australian community without drawing on Australian welfare and citizenship would be revoked if convicted of a gaol able offence.

Australian citizenship should NOT be considered an insurance policy when travelling overseas! If you commit a crime in a foreign country that is your problem and you should be dealt with under the law of that land and do not expect Australia to jump to your defence.

If you choose to leave Australia for any reason for longer than 24 months your citizenship of Australia will be suspended. If you have loyalty to Australia you would be living in Australia not in a overseas tax haven.

It is time Australians again took pride in their citizenship.
